At Living New York, we look forward to working alongside you throughout the process of buying your new home. This guide has been designed to help clarify the process and assist you in achieving your goals.

We are here to help.
Owning a home in New York City

New York City is one of the most diverse and competitive real estate markets in the world, and we understand that making the decision to buy a home here can be a particularly overwhelming experience. From mastering the difference between condos and co-ops, to planning for closing costs, to approaching the board approval process, there’s a lot to learn.

That’s why we’ve created this buyer’s guide — to set you on the right course to owning a New York City home of your own!
How to Buy a Home in New York City

01 Finding an Agent
Look for an experienced, licensed real estate agent who is knowledgeable about the neighborhood you’re considering. Living New York agents are neighborhood experts in all areas of NYC and can help guide your search.

02 Get Pre-Qualified
Before beginning your search, your first step is to get pre-approved for a mortgage loan (unless you will be paying cash for the full price of your home). Your Living NY agent can connect you to a mortgage broker. Based on your income and credit history, the mortgage broker will determine how much the bank will lend you and at what rate, which will help you determine the price range for your search.

03 Financial Statement
Complete a financial statement; an itemization of assets, liabilities, net worth, and income of a prospective client. It demonstrates financial capability and a Living NY agent can provide you with a Financial Statement Form.

04 Tour Properties
Conduct viewings and attend open houses spanning a range of areas and property types. Now is the time to consider your ideal home’s location and amenities.

05 Negotiate
Reach an agreement with seller on price and terms. Once you have seen a home you like, you can put in an “offer,” which is a non-binding agreement to pay a certain price along with additional terms for the home. If your offer is lower than the list price, the seller will likely return with a “counter offer,” which you can accept, reject, or counter. Your agent will provide advice on pricing and terms.
06 Due Diligence
Analyze the contract of sale, building financials, and board minutes with your attorney. It’s advisable to have a home inspection done at this point to identify any possible hazards or material defects. It’s also best to work with an attorney who specializes in New York City co-op and condo sales. Your attorney’s job is vital to protecting your interests, and they have a great deal of paperwork to review on your behalf. Therefore, you want an attorney who is familiar with these transactions.

07 Sign Contract
Sign a contract and put down a deposit. (Typically 10% of purchase price)

08 Complete Loan Application
Organize an appraisal with your bank. The value of the subject property is one of the most important factors when it comes to securing financing. Banks and mortgage lenders need to ensure your property is in good condition, and truly worth what you or your broker say it’s worth because it’s the collateral for the loan.
09 Prepare Your Board Package

(If you are purchasing a townhouse, skip ahead to Step II.)

Condominiums and Co-ops are run by a board of directors, who will require a board package in order for you to purchase an apartment. A board package generally consists of financial documents including tax returns, bank statements, mortgage commitment from your bank, and letter of reference. If it’s a Co-op, after reviewing your package, the board will set an interview date. Your Living NY agent will help prepare your board package as well as prepare you for your interview. While condos do not generally require interviews, you will need to present a purchase application that shows you are financially qualified to purchase the apartment.

THE HOME STRETCH:

10 Board Approves the Purchase

11 Bank Issues Clearance to Close

12 Closing Scheduled by Attorneys

13 Final-Walk Through with Your Agent

14 Closing...
Congratulations!
you are now a NYC home owner.
